Dear Lynda and Colleagues,

Thank you for the many school supplies you donated to Women In Distress for our 2016 Back to School Drive. The materials collected will help over 300 children we serve daily. Your generosity will ensure that violence and abuse do not get in the way of success for these deserving children.

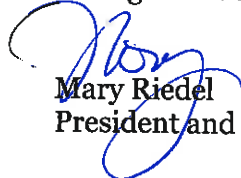

The anticipation of the new school year for most of us, includes happy memories of picking out new school supplies, new shoes and the perfect new outfit for the first day of school. However, for the families who have decided to flee their home due to domestic abuse the experience is different. You let them start the school year with the supplies and confidence they need to succeed.

As the only nationally accredited, state certified, full service domestic violence center serving Broward County, Women In Distress is committed to ending domestic violence for everyone through intervention, education and advocacy. Domestic violence knows no boundaries, and in partnership with you, we could be helping a friend, neighbor or colleague close to your heart.

We are pleased to welcome you to tour the Jim and Jan Moran Family Center Campus at any time and answer any questions you may have. It is always a special privilege to have community friends like you see firsthand how your support makes a difference.

Thank you for taking a step to end domestic violence.

With gratitude,

Mary Riedel
